

Join us for the 5th Hyogo Science E-café:

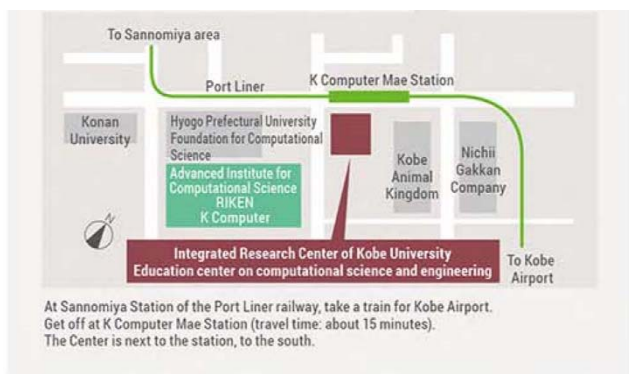

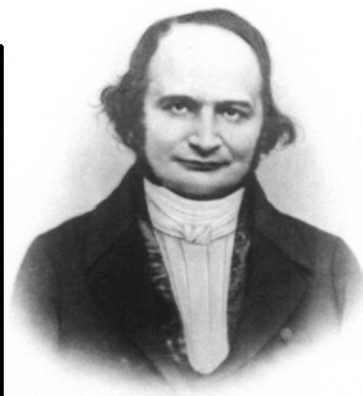

MATHEMATICS SEEN FROM ANECDOTES

Hosted by the Hyogo Science Coalition and the Kobe University Science Shop

Professor Sakaé Fuchino of Kobe University will discuss some of the characteristic features of mathematics on the basis of anecdotes (逸話) from the history of mathematics (数学) and mathematicians (数学者). In particular, he will discuss about the exactness (厳密さ) of mathematics, its autonomy (自律性), abstraction (抽象化), its wide applicability (適用可能性), but also its limitations (限界).

Location: at the Integrated Research Center of Kobe University, the Lounge on the 4th Floor in the Main Building
