6. Advance consultation for persons requiring extra consideration regarding the taking of the examination

As a general rule, applicants with disabilities who wish to be accommodated in the examination and in studies are requested to report this by Monday, July 3, 2023 for consultation.

The consultation may take several days, so please report it as soon as possible.

7. Selection Method, Date and Venue of Examination

(1) Selection Method

The selection will be made based on comprehensive consideration of the results for the specialized subjects (written examinations (including presentations)) and oral examinations, the English test results submitted, and the academic transcript, etc., from the university of the applicant.

For the examination subjects and oral examinations, see Appended Tables I to II (pages 11 to 14).

(2) Date of Examination

Thursday, September 14, 2023 and Friday, September 15, 2023

However, depending on the situation of applications, the examinations may be implemented on one day only, on Thursday, September 14, 2023. Notification of the date and time of implementation will be given when the examination admission slips are sent.

For applicants for the Clinical Psychology Course examination category in the Department of Human Development, the results of the written tests and the English test results submitted will be used to select a group of applicants numbering around twice the Admission Capacity. Only these selected applicants will take the oral examination. The results of the selection based on the written examinations will be announced on the notice board concerning the entrance examinations (the notice board of the Graduate School of Human Development and Environment) at 11:00 am on the day of the oral examination.

If we determine that it is not possible to safely conduct the entrance examination in person due to the impact of novel coronavirus infections, we will postpone the examinations to the following dates.

(Dates of examinations if affected by novel coronavirus infections (postponed dates))

Saturday, October 21, 2023 and Sunday, October 22, 2023

Furthermore, if the examinations are postponed, the examinations will be conducted remotely using the online conference system Zoom. (Examinations will not be conducted in person.) If the examinations are conducted remotely, candidates will need a communication device (such as a personal computer or tablet PC) that is equipped with camera, speaker and microphone functions. Communication devices with telephone functions, such as smartphones, cannot be used because there is a risk of the examination being interrupted. In addition, if the entrance examinations are to be conducted remotely using Zoom, we expect to conduct connection testing using the same environment as the examinations about one to two weeks before the date of examination.

Any changes will be announced on the website of the Graduate School of Human Development and Environment, Kobe University (<https://www.h.kobe-u.ac.jp/ja>). In addition, applicants will be notified of the details of the entrance examination methods and other matters in the Information for Examinees and by email (sent to the e-mail address indicated in the application form).

◎ Special entrance examination for working adults

- (1) If either "Psychological Development" or "Education and Learning" is selected as the examination category, the selection method will be as follows.
 - All candidates are required to take a written examination for the above specialized subjects.
 - In addition, applicants who have research reports, papers, or works such as those below related to social practice or educational practice, etc., are required to submit those items at the time of application. These items may be taken into account in the pass/fail decision.
 - a. Books, published works, etc.
 - b. Articles published in academic journals, bulletins, etc.
 - c. Articles and research reports published in commercial journals, etc.
 - d. Other equivalent items
- (2) If either "Clinical Psychology", "Human Expression and Health Promotion" or "Human Behavior" is selected as the examination category, the selection method will be the same as for the general entrance examination.

◎ Special entrance examination for international students

The selection method will be the same as the general entrance examination.

The selection method will be the same as the general entrance examination.

◎ Special entrance examination for international students

(1) The selection method will be the same as the general entrance examination.

(2) Persons who are applicants to the special entrance examination for international students of the Department of Human Environmental Science and would like the questions for the specialized subject to be given in English should make sure to consult the desired teaching advisor and then indicate this in the section of the application that is to specify the elective subjects. The answers may be in Japanese or English.

II. Oral Examination

This shall be performed on topics such as the future research in the examination category selected, based on the research plan of the individual.

III. Examination Schedule

The meeting time for the oral examinations will be notified by methods such as the posting of a notice on the day of the written examinations or on the day of the presentation examinations. If the examinations are conducted on just one day, the oral examination will be conducted after the completion of the specialized subject (written examination or presentation). Details will be notified in writing either when the examination admission slip is sent or on the day of the test.

Please be aware that the Date of Examination may be postponed. (See 7.(2) Date of Examination on page 9)

8. Announcement of Entrance Examination Results

Friday, October 6, 2023

The results of the selection will be sent out by express mail to all applicants on the day of the acceptance announcement.

There will be no announcement by a posted notice or on the website. In addition, absolutely no response will be given to inquiries by telephone or other means.

If the date of examination is postponed due to the impact of novel coronavirus infections, the acceptance announcement date will be postponed to the following date.

(Date of acceptance announcement if affected by novel coronavirus infections (postponed date))

Friday, November 24, 2023

9. Admission Procedure

Admission procedures will be conducted by postal mail in mid-March 2024.

Details such as the admission procedure dates, documents to be submitted, and admission procedure methods will be given when the documents related to the admission procedures are sent. Documents related to the admission procedures will be sent in early February 2024.

Procedure documents, etc.	Remarks

[2] Payment ○ Admission fee JPY 282,000 Tuition fees - First semester JPY 267,900 Tuition fees – Annual JPY 535,800	The admission fee must be paid by the date of the admission procedures in (1). *The tuition fee for the first semester will be debited in late April 2024. Details will be provided separately to successful applicants.

- (Note)
1. The figures above are an example from the 2023 academic year.
 2. The details of the admission procedures (such as the documents to be submitted and how to pay the admission fee) will be separately notified to successful applicants.
 3. The admission fees paid will not be refunded for any reason.
 4. If the tuition fee is revised during the period of enrollment at the university, the new tuition fee will be applied from the time of the revision.

(Reference) On admission fee exemption or deferment of payment, and tuition fee exemption

Details on the 2024 Academic Year admission fee exemption and deferment of payment, and tuition fee exemption, will be posted on the Kobe University website under "Education and Student Life" → "Financial Support" → "Tuition and Admission Fee Exemptions and Other Systems" once the details of the exemption and how to apply are determined.

10. Handling of Personal Information

- (1) Kobe University complies with legislation such as the “Act on the Protection of Personal Information Held by Independent Administrative Legal Entity” in using applicants’ personal information, and handles it based on the “Guideline on the Control of Personal Information Held by Kobe University.”
- (2) Personal information including the individual results of screening shall be used for screening (application procedures, conducting screening), announcement of successful applicants, enrollment procedures, future screening methods, and surveys/research aimed at improving university education. The results of these surveys/research will be published without information that could identify specific individuals
- (3) The personal information of enrolled students provided for the application will be used for supporting the students after enrollment (health management, tuition fee exemption or scholarship application), educational purposes (registration, academic instruction), tuition-fee related matters, and other corresponding work.
- (4) Part of these operations may be outsourced to an agency (hereafter referred to as “Agency”). In cases where operations are outsourced, all or part of the personal information provided will be provided to such an Agency under a nondisclosure obligation within a certain limit necessary for the Agency to execute the operations.

11. Cautions

- (1) After the application procedures, no changes to the contents written on the application documents will be allowed.
However, please contact us immediately if there is any change in your contact information.
- (2) Application documents will not be returned after they have been accepted.
- (3) Admission acceptance may be cancelled if any false entries are discovered in the details written, even if this is after admission.

12. Long-term course student system

This is a system for persons who would have difficulty obtaining and completing the necessary credits within two years due to circumstances such as having an occupation. At the time of admission, such persons can apply to systematically obtain and complete credits during a period that is longer than two years. If the university approves this application, the system allows students to be enrolled at the university for more than two years, but with the payment of the tuition fee for two years.

The annual tuition fee becomes the total amount of tuition fee for two years divided by the number of years recognized for the student as a long-term course student. However, if the tuition fee is revised during the period of enrollment at the university, the new tuition fee will be applied from the time of the revision.

The circumstances such as having an occupation refers to persons who fall under any of the following, who would have difficulty studying within the standard term of study.

- (1) Persons who have an occupation and are working (including self-employed and temporary workers (but excluding one-off part-time jobs))
- (2) Persons with circumstances such as household affairs, child care, nursing care, etc.
- (3) Other persons for which it is deemed reasonable by the Dean of the Graduate School of Human Development and Environment

Please note that even if there are circumstances such as having an occupation, this system is only permitted under certain conditions.

Persons wishing to apply should consult with the person in charge in advance.

The deadline for the application procedures is Monday, February 12, 2024.

Specialized subjects	200	250	200
Foreign language subjects	100	50	100
Oral examination	A,B,C	A,B,C	A,B,C

(NOTE)

1. For foreign language subjects, the scores submitted for the English tests will be converted to a score out of 100 in accordance with the difficulty of each test. If scores for more than one type of English test are submitted, the test with the highest converted score will be used.
2. Persons who are given C as the oral examination result are not eligible to pass.

15. Control and Prevention of Infectious Diseases

(1) Submission of a certificate demonstrating inoculation and an antibody test against measles and rubella:

Kobe University has implemented the Measles and Rubella Registration Policy, and all newly enrolled Kobe University students must submit one of the following three certificates (①, ②, or ③) to prevent a possible outbreak of measles and rubella on campus.

Please note that students admitted into the following schools should submit either ① or ③:

School of Medicine (Faculty of Medicine and Faculty of Health Sciences), the Graduate School of Medicine, or the Graduate School of Health Sciences.

① A vaccination certificate to prove that you were inoculated against measles and rubella (twice each after one year of age) . (recommended)

② A vaccination certificate to prove that you were inoculated with measles and rubella vaccines each within the last five years (since April 2019).

* For ① and ②, it can be a combined vaccine of measles and rubella vaccines (e.g., MR vaccine).

* For ① and ②, the certificate must be issued by an accredited medical institution, and state the type of vaccine and the date of inoculation.

* If there is a history of vaccination, please submit ③ or receive vaccination and submit ① or ②.

* For ③, the certificate must specify the measuring method and the measured values of antibody titer in your blood (refer to the next page), and it must satisfy the judging standard listed in the chart. A blood test report sheet itself can be accepted for submission.

If the antibody titer in your blood is insufficient, you must receive the necessary vaccination, and submit either ① or ②.

* You may submit a combination of ①, ②, and ③ (e.g., ① for measles, and ③ for rubella).

* If the antibody titer level is below requirements, yet you cannot be inoculated with vaccines for some reason (e.g. illness or body composition), please submit an official document (for example, a certificate issued by the doctor) explaining why.

<Submission Period and Place of Submission>

• All successful undergraduate and graduate applicants enrolling in April (except the Graduate School of Medicine, the Graduate School of Health Sciences, and the Graduate School of Maritime Sciences):

Please submit at the time of the medical checkup for new students scheduled in April.

• All successful graduate applicants enrolling in April (the Graduate School of Medicine, the Graduate School of Health Sciences, and the Graduate School of Maritime Sciences):

Submit the certificate to the following institution by the designated date:

- Students of the Graduate School of Medicine should submit directly to the Medical Center for Student Health, Kusunoki Branch, by April 15.

- Students of the Graduate School of Health Sciences should submit directly to the Physical and Mental Health Consultation Office (Myodani Campus), by April 15.

- Students of the Graduate School of Maritime Sciences are required to submit the form at the medical examination site on the day of the medical check-up for Maritime Sciences students.

• Successful applicants enrolling in October:

Submit the certificate at the medical check-up site for October enrollment.

(2) Submission of a certificate demonstrating inoculation and an antibody test against epidemic parotiditis and chickenpox (Only for successful applicants enrolling in the School of Medicine including both the Faculty of Medicine and the Faculty of Health Sciences; the Graduate School of Medicine; and the Graduate School of Health Sciences):

In addition to the measles and rubella certificate, successful applicants enrolling in the School of Medicine (the Faculty of Medicine and the Faculty of Health Sciences), the Graduate School of Medicine, and the Graduate School of Health Sciences, are also required to submit a certificate regarding epidemic parotiditis and chickenpox. A designated form for the certificate is available at the Academic Affairs Section.

The certificate must state that either you were inoculated against epidemic parotiditis and chickenpox (twice each after one year of age), or verify that you have sufficient antibody titer in your blood to prevent development of epidemic parotiditis and chickenpox based on an antibody test performed within the last five years (since April 2019).

If the antibody titer in your blood is insufficient, you must receive a necessary vaccination (twice each after one year of age), by the due date for the certificate submission. (The two vaccinations must be given at least 4 weeks apart.)

If the antibody titer level is below requirements, yet you cannot be inoculated with vaccines for some reason (e.g., illness or body composition), please submit an official document (for example, a certificate issued by the doctor) explaining why.

<Submission Period and Place of Submission>

- Successful undergraduate and graduate applicants enrolling in April

(Only for the School of Medicine including the Faculty of Medicine and the Faculty of Health Sciences; the Graduate School of Medicine, and the Graduate School of Health Sciences):

By end of June of your first year, submit the certificate to the following:

- Students of the School of Medicine (both the Faculty of Medicine and the Faculty of Health Sciences) should submit directly to the Medical Center for Student Health (Rokkodai).
- Students of the Graduate School of Medicine should submit directly to the Medical Center for Student Health, Kusunoki Branch.
- Students of the Graduate School of Health Sciences should submit directly to the Physical and Mental Health Consultation Office (Myodani Campus).

☆ Attention: For those who are enrolled in the School of Medicine but miss the submission deadline, you may not be able to participate in the initial on-site clinical training program etc.

- Successful graduate applicants enrolling in October

(Only for the Graduate School of Medicine and the Graduate School of Health Sciences):

Submit the certificate by end of December of your first year to the following:

- Students of the Graduate School of Medicine should submit directly to the Medical Center for Student Health, Kusunoki Branch.
- Students of the Graduate School of Health Sciences should submit directly to the Physical and Mental Health Consultation Office (Myodani Campus).

Measuring Methods and Judging Standards for Protective Antibodies in Blood

	Measuring Method	Judging Standard	Remarks
Measles	IgG—EIA method PA method NT method	$8.0 \leq \text{positive}$ $(16.0 \leq) *$ $256x \leq \text{positive}$ $(256x \leq) *$ $4.0x \leq \text{positive}$ $(8x \leq) *$	Positive result by one of these three methods. * For the School of Medicine (both the Faculty of Medicine and the Faculty of Health Sciences), the Graduate School of Medicine, and the Graduate School of Health Sciences: Positive result by one of these three methods, and must achieve values shown in brackets.
Rubella	HI method IgG—EIA method	$32x \leq \text{positive}$ $8.0 \leq \text{positive}$	Positive result by one of these two methods. (HI method is recommended)
Epidemic Parotiditis (Mumps)	IgG—EIA method	$4.0 \leq \text{positive}$	Only for the following schools: School of Medicine (Faculty of Medicine, Faculty of Health Sciences), Graduate School of Medicine, and Graduate School of Health Sciences
Chickenpox	IgG—EIA method IAHA method NT method	$4.0 \leq \text{positive}$ $4\text{-fold} \leq \text{positive}$ $4\text{-fold} \leq \text{positive}$	Only for the following schools: School of Medicine (Faculty of Medicine, Faculty of Health Sciences), Graduate School of Medicine, Graduate School of Health Sciences Positive result by one of these three methods (IgG—EIA method is recommended)

* Antibody testing is not required if the vaccination history meets the requirements or if additional vaccinations are given.

* Make sure the above methods are followed when the antibody titer is measured in your blood.

* The protective antibody value differs according to the measuring method used. Please note that the judging standards are higher than the usual standards used at medical institutions.

Students who wish to enter the School of Medicine (the Faculty of Medicine and the Faculty of Health Sciences), the Graduate School of Medicine, and the Graduate School of Health Sciences should be aware that they are required to have an even higher level of protective antibody values listed in brackets against measles.

* Before you visit a medical institution, please make an appointment and confirm that the antibody test and/or the vaccine you need are available at that institution.

When you visit a doctor at a medical institution, make sure you present this guidebook so your doctor can issue the necessary certificate(s). (Please make sure you confirm with your doctor the measuring methods and judging standards when measuring the antibody titer in your blood.)

* Points to Consider when Submitting a Certificate:

- ① Please bring the original certificate and one set of copies (A4 size).
- ② If the certificate is written in a language other than Japanese or English, please attach a document that shows either a Japanese or English translation.
